Memo

To:         Dr. Jim Haendiges

From:       Nate Armstrong

Date:       August 24, 2015

Subject:    Personal Memo

The intent of this memo is to introduce myself and my goals as an English 3010 student. Good!

I am a Computer Science major and this fall semester is my last. I chose Computer Science because I was working a tech job right out of high school and really liked it. Subsequently, my passion for computer programming has been growing exponentially ever since.

> Jim Haendiges 9/4/15 2:52 PM
> Comment: Last what? Be more specific here

> Jim Haendiges 9/4/15 2:52 PM
> Comment: Say more about why you liked it

As a software developer. I do very little formal writing; but I can certainly see its application in my field. For instance, I wrote a smart phone application and published a landing page for the application on the Internet and had to come up with content for the site. Writing is something that I struggle with so it is my hope that through this class I can not only become better at writing but also more comfortable doing it. (be sure to make your references very specific and clear)

> Jim Haendiges 9/4/15 2:53 PM
> Comment: What is "it" here? Writing or software development?

> Jim Haendiges 9/4/15 2:53 PM
> Deleted: it

> Jim Haendiges 9/4/15 2:53 PM
> Deleted: i

> Jim Haendiges 9/4/15 2:54 PM
> Deleted: This

I am excited to take a little break from computer classes and focus some time on sharpening my skills as a writer. I spend a lot of time writing code for computers and not enough time writing for humans. I have no doubt that this class will be a huge benefit to me as a professional engineer. Good!

If you have any other questions that I failed to address please let me know.